Legislative Notice

No. 3

February 12, 2007

H.J.Res. 20– Revised Continuing Appropriations Resolution, Fiscal Year 2007

Calendar No. 18

On February 1, 2007, H.J. Res.20 was placed on the Senate Legislative Calendar.

Noteworthy

- On February 8, the Senate began consideration of H.J.Res. 20, the House-passed bill to provide $463.5 billion in appropriations for FY 2007 for all programs not yet funded under regular appropriations acts. Only the Defense and Homeland Security appropriations acts were enacted last year. This bill funds all other programs for the remaining 7 1/2 months of the fiscal year, which amounts to approximately 50 percent of all discretionary spending.
- Immediately upon the Senate's turning to the bill, the Majority Leader took advantage of his right of first recognition and "filled the amendment tree," that is, he offered a series of amendments to the bill and to his motion to commit so that no other Senator may offer an amendment to the bill.
- Cloture has been filed on the bill and a cloture vote is likely to occur on Tuesday morning. If cloture is invoked, all amendments must be germane.
- Republicans are concerned about being denied the right to offer any amendments to this bill because it did not undergo the amendment process in either the House or Senate appropriations committees, nor was it permitted to be amended in the House. The House took up the bill on January 31 under a rule that provided for one hour of debate and no amendments. It was passed 286-140.
- Republicans point to flaws in the bill that they would amend, including the denial of funds for the early identification of AIDS in toddlers and for the Base Realignment and Closure Commission (BRAC).
- The current continuing resolution (C.R.) that is providing funds for the programs provided for in this bill (P.L. 109-383) will expire on February 15. That C.R. is the third continuing resolution enacted for this fiscal year.

Bill Provisions

Title I – Funding Formula and General Provisions

Title I provides that all projects and activities that are not funded in the FY07 Defense and Homeland Security Appropriations Acts, shall be funded at the FY06 levels. (However, exceptions are provided in Title II.) The FY06 levels shall not include any emergency supplemental spending, such as funding included for the Global War on Terror.

Title I also contains a provision, Section 112, relating to earmarks, which specifies that any earmark in a committee report or statement of managers for FY06 shall have no legal effect.

Title II – Funding Adjustments

Title II, which is divided into 11 chapters, provides for anomalies, or funding exceptions. Each chapter, divided by subcommittee jurisdiction, provides funding increases and/or decreases to specific accounts. For example, Chapter 1 includes all funding exceptions for programs which fall under the Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Subcommittee.

H.J.Res. 20 also provides for 50 percent of the cost-of-living adjustment for all agencies covered by the bill.

Administration Position

A Statement of Administration Policy (SAP) on the bill indicated overall support for H.J.Res. 20. The SAP indicated disappointment with the structure and process of the bill because H.J.Res. 20 uses a formulaic approach and does not take into account new spending priorities for FY07 or proposed savings from program terminations. The SAP states, “The Administration believes it is important that amendments be considered to address concerns about the bill.” The SAP includes views on specific programs, such as BRAC, Social Security Administration, Economic Support Fund, and Amtrak. The SAP can be found at the following link: <http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb/legislative/sap/110-1/hjr20sap-s.pdf>.

This SAP has essentially the same language as the January 30th SAP relating to the House consideration of H.J.Res. 20. However, the Senate SAP includes additional concerns relating to Section 8 Housing and the Teacher Incentive Fund.

Possible Amendments

A cloture petition has been filed on H.J.Res. 20. If cloture is invoked, all amendments must be germane. Senator Reid filled the amendment-tree with five amendments, which change dates in H.J.Res. 20. His amendments post-cloture will be germane.
